

Entrepreneurship is an invitation to be creative, to participate in God's creative act. The human person is the only investment with the potential of infinite returns.

—Andreas Widmer, Director of Entrepreneurship Programs at The Catholic University of America

To understand how and why countries develop, one must understand the motivations and desires of the human heart.

—Luanne Zurlo, former Wall Street securities analyst and founder of Worldfund

When we take the time to learn basic economic facts, we are exploring an area of God's dominion that he has given us to cultivate. When we engage with economic truths, we practice loving the Lord with all our mind.

—Jay W. Richards, bestselling author and frequent radio and television show guest

Sample Schedule of a Day

7:30 a.m.	Mass at the Basilica of the National Shrine (Optional)	Noon	Lunch
8 a.m.	Breakfast	12:40 p.m.	Consultation with Panel of Entrepreneurs
8:40 a.m.	Brief Business-Skill Competition	1:45 p.m.	Talk on Spirituality
9 a.m.	Speaker on Wealth Creation	2:30 p.m.	Team Competition
10 a.m.	Question and Answer with Speaker	4 p.m.	Interactive task in nearby Downtown D.C., including dinner at a D.C. restaurant
10:20 a.m.	Workshop based upon the Speaker's topic	8:30 p.m.	Return to Campus
11 a.m.	Practical Lesson on Communication

A Detailed List of Speakers and Topics is Available on the Website

BUSINESS

A Force for Good

The 2016 Summer Business Institute at The Catholic University of America

Provocative speakers covering topics such as entrepreneurship, wealth creation, spirituality, and many more • Interactive workshops
Skill-building competitions • Housing and all meals

The Catholic University School of Business and Economics is committed to building a network of business leaders passionate about promoting and preserving the moral integrity of the free enterprise economy.

Thanks to a generous donation, the cost for the entire week per participant is just $300. Scholarships and travel vouchers available.

Apply by April 16, 2016

For more information: Joe Patterson, Director of The Summer Business Institute
CUA-SummerInstitute@cua.edu / 202-213-8468